'Hardware' Reeve TORRANCE

Publisher Torrance Herald, Torrance, California.

Dear Sir: I am directed by the Trustees of this city to ask that you publish the following warning to parents of children who are permitted to roll hoops or tires on the public streets.

Within the past few weeks four near-accidents that might easily have resulted fatally to children were caused by the practice of rolling tires on the streets of the city.

Intent on their otherwise innocent pleasure, these children dart to and fro across the thoroughfares utterly oblivious of the approach of automobiles and street cars and that none of them have been killed or badly injured is miraculous.

Respectfully, A. H. Bartlett, City Clerk.

WOODMEN NOTES

The regular meeting of committees on the Woodmen building fund campaign met at Meinzer's Tuesday evening. Good progress has been made the past week and results are very gratifying.

Two new avenues, of disposing of tickets, have been opened and a speedy closing is in sight.

All members who have tickets for sale, should be present next Tuesday evening and turn in the cash and the tickets that are not sold. This is absolutely necessary for proper checking and handling of tickets.

The committee is more or less handicapped by not knowing who are and who are not selling tickets. Do not just carry them around with you, but sell them.

Last Wednesday evening, after a short meeting at the Legion Hall, about 15 members went over to Artesia, to a zone adoption. The work was put on by the Long Beach Camp and was good to the last word.

Neighbor Frank Graves, of Torrance Camp delivered his part in tip top fashion and is recognized by all the surrounding camps as one who will be hard to beat.

Don't forget the big zone adoption here October 11th. California team and Torrance officers will put on the work.

MR. BARNES OF NEW YORK

"Mr. Barnes of New York," a Goldwyn picture, starring Tom Moore, will give the patrons of the Torrance Theatre, Wednesday, Oct. 4, something to talk about. The photoplay is the film version of the famous novel and play of the same name, and has as its theme a Corsican vendetta in which an American with a sense of humor finds himself involved. The humor of the Yankee (Tom Moore) crops out in the midst of the most tragic situation; and where one expects a tragedy, one sees the situation turn into comedy.

This picture has all the factors that make up excellent photoplay entertainment. There is suspense, comedy, scenic beauty, good acting and feminine beauty.

Tom Moore is supported by Naomi Childers, Anna Lehr, Sydney Ainsworth, Otto Hoffman, and several others. "Mr. Barnes of New York" is a picture that will be talked about when other photographs are forgotten.

Letters to the Editor

(By MRS. M. V. BUCHANAN)

I understand that sufficient money is due to pay for several branches to be taught in the night school here in Torrance and teachers have been secured for part of the branches. Others have no teachers. Now surely it is not so hard to find some capable woman who is willing to teach millinery and dressmaking.

Many of us would be glad to have the lessons and there is no milliner in Torrance, so why not let us learn to make our own hats, and save our money to buy shoes that cost so much. Will the night schools be allowed to fizzle out this season as it has done before? Busy people cannot go night after night to the school building only to be disappointed. Many are enrolled and others are waiting to know if we have teachers.

With the money appropriated and the pupils ready for work, would some of the business men of the town look into this matter and see what can be done?
